Introductions

Members' Visions and Ideas for the Bathhouse

- Fred Felleman: Recounts the history of Westpoint expansion at Discovery Park – expansion of water access in other parks: Golden Gardens should have a building that connects to the beach. It should embrace the marine environment, have windows and saltwater tanks with marine life inside. Connect the Shilshole marina light house to the Golden Gardens Bath House.
- Cheryl, a City employee: Wants to see the building become a teen center. Also, marine environment concerns. Also, should have a rental facility here.
- Margo Aspholm: Rental potential seems worth exploring
- Cindy Lantry: Has worked on wetlands restoration and wants to see the Bathhouse become the focus of the landscape here. Sustainability should be show-cased here – an educational demonstration project.
- Al Hughes: Fired-up by Fred for marine environmental education.
- Vivian MacKay: Building seems under-utilized. Teen activities are good, but other activities also should be developed and supported, especially water-related uses.
- Carolyn Wren Clark: A toolshed is needed for the gardeners who work in the wetlands and on the removal of invasive plants. Also it could be a place to distribute information for environmental groups.
- Bryndel Smith: King County interests in GG Park – possible resources. Bus service to Golden Gardens Park should be improved.
- Larry Jackson: Long involvement with the Golden Gardens Park. Larry feels that public safety has improved, but the Park needs to be a safe place for people.
- Bruce Drager: The beach is a great resource – we need to make it available to the public

Mark Johnson agreed to send out a test email to PAT members and asked for their response so that we could be sure that everyone is receiving meeting notices, etc.
